STRIKE DEATH TOLL MOUNTING

ITALY AND FRANCE REACH AGREEMENT

GERMAN REARMAMENT WILL BE PREVENTED BY COMMON ACTION

NATIONS AGREE ON AUSTRIAN INDEPENDENCE AND ACTION AGAINST NAZIS

BARI, Italy, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Italy and France have reached an accord for common action to prevent the rearmament of Germany, it was stated here today by French delegates to the Levantine Fair.

It also was stated that the nations have come to a complete agreement on the quesion of Austrian independence and have pledged themselves to take common action against the Nazis.

French sources said that anothphase of the agreement is that Italy renounces her rearmament policy.

It was added that Italy will join France in her fight to keep German armaments at the level prescribed by the Treaty of Versailles. It was pointed out, however, that this was not to be interpreted as a reunuciation of an Italian impression that the peace treaty could be revised.

The French delegates said the accord had been reached August 31 and that as a result a trip by Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, to Rome, is possible.

A new declaration "of the necessity of aiding the Danubian countries commercially" also was said to have been reached by Italy and France.

The French, who heretofore felt they could not depend upon Italian friendship, now say they are convinced an entente is possible.

Other Problems Left Open.

Other ticklish questions, such as problems of naval parity, and a conflict of interests in Tunis and Libya, were said to have been left open for self-solution, after reestablishment of a cordial atmosphere.

The accord was said to have been reached after conversations between Premier Mussolini and Ambassador De Chambrun, French envoy to Rome.

Premier Mussolini, escorted to this southern port by warships, opened the celebrated fair and started a vigorous Italian drive to capture Asiatic markets.

He proceeded to the fair grounds with an escort of thousands of soldiers and black-shirted militia.

While making an inspection tour Mussolini received two disagreeable surprises. He found the gates of the German pavilion closed and a few moments later discovered that Yugoslavia also had failed to send exhibits. Officials explained that both countries, after arrang-

DICTATOR LONG'S RECENTLY ADOPTED LAWS START FRIDAY

SENATOR AND HIS BACKERS GIVEN ALMOST UNLIMITED POLICE POWERS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long set the wheels in motion today to call another special session of the legislature for "instant" impeachment of the entire New Orleans city administration.

Long told his legislative committee investigating charges of "graft and corruption" in New Orleans of asserted intimidation and strong-arming of committee witnesses, and suggested the legislature assemble instantly to "get these crooks and thugs" out of New Orleans.

The committee, at Long's suggestion, summoned Gov. O. K. Allen, the Kingfish's major domo, to New Orleans, and the governor left Baton Rouge hastily.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that the legislature would possibly be called into session by Sunday night.

The whole trouble between Long and Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, controller of city political affairs, grew out of the September 11 congressional primary in which both are supporting rival candidates.

Senator Long said that under the resolution creating the committee the governer had the power to call the legislature into a special session and take over the entire city government, "kicking out these crooks and thugs."

"It seems," he said, "there is a conspiracy in this town to make the governor put the police under the militia. The committee could ask the governor to strip this city of all power, call the legisla-

Sensational disclosures were expected as a result of the betrayal of the bandit's helpers.

OFFICER WOUNDED DURING BATTLE WITH ESCAPED PRISONERS

TWO OKLAHOMA FUGITIVES CAPTURED NEAR EDGEWOOD WEDNESDAY NIGHT

DALLAS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Two of three prisoners who escaped from the Tecumseh, Okla., jail two weeks ago were recaptured in a machine gun battle with officers at a farm near Edgewood, in East Texas, last night.

Millard Bunch, 24, of Edgewood, wounded in a gunfight in Oklahoma several days ago, was the first to surrender and he was brought to a hospital here at once for treatment, along with a deputy sheriff named Burnett, who was injured in the exchange of shots. Benton Davis, sheriff of Grayson county, who led the capture, said Malloy Kuykendall who escaped with Bunch, also was caught and was placed in the jail at Canton, Texas. East Texas officers continued the hunt today for Leonard Blair, the third fugitive.

Davis said the hunt for the men began after Hardy Thomas of Denison reported to him that he and his son were forced to drive the three to a farmhouse just south of Edgewood. Upon their arrival, the men left the car and told Thomas not to notify officers.

Thomas and his son returned to Sherman as quickly as possible and told the sheriff of their experiences. Davis immediately assembled his own deputies and sent word for ofiers of other counties to join him in East Texas.

They converged on the farm-

MYERS DEFENSE IS MAPPING STRATEGY IN MURDER TRIAL

STATE RESTS CASE ABOUT NOON THURSDAY; REPORT DRUGS FOUND

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A defense attempt to free Neal Myers, University of Oklahoma junior, failed today at the conclusion of state's testimony in the youth's murder trial for the death of Marian Mills, his beauty queen sweetheart.

District Judge Tom Pace overruled a contention by young Myers' attorneys that the state had failed to make a case and defense testimony got underway immediately afterward.

A shift in defense strategy may keep the boy off the witness stand until tomorrow, it was believed.

Defense attorneys elected to argue their motion to dismiss in vigorous language and the State resisted it with equal determination.

"The state's doctors have said that death was caused by manipulation of instrumentation, and that Miss Mills died immediately," argued J. A. Rinehart, of defense counsel.

"At that point we have Marion Mills and Mrs. Hazel Brown (fraternity cook in whose home the girl died July 10) alone in a room for ten minutes. Something happened while Mrs. Brown was in there that caused the death of this girl."

"The only other assumption is that if an operation was committed the boy was an accomplice, and the evidence shows that the boy at all times opposed an abortion.

"On the contrary, he wanted to marry her."

Frank Dudley, State's assistant attorney general and special prosecutor, replied by pointing to tes-

Four Ft. Worth People Die At Grade Crossing

FORT WORTH, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Four Fort Worth residents were dead today and two others injured, one critically, after their automobile was smashed by a passenger train at a crossing one mile north of Saginaw.

Mrs. J. C. Mayes, with a crushed collar bone and internal injuries, was near death and Mrs. Inez Mull, 29, the other survivor, was suffering from a broken leg and a fractured hip.

Killed instantly were J. E. Mayes, 62, and J. C. Mayes, 52, brothers, and the latter's two daughters, Greta Faye, 24, and Frances, 13.

Mrs. Mull, daughter of J. E. Mayes, hysterically sobbed out the story of the crash. She said the entire party of six had started for a prairie fire and did not see the approaching train as they started across the intersection.

GENE SARAZEN GREAT GOLFER AND SHOULD BE HERO TO ALL WOULD-BE GOLF CHAMPIONS

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Says Gene Sarazen: The hand that rocks the cradle is rocking a lot of golf's finest professionals into bankruptcy and mediocrity.

Possible Gene thinks he'll be safe from subsequent feminine wrath now that he's about to hop a boat for Australia for an exhibition tour, but he refused to mince words as he swung a verbal mashie at his target during a brief stay-over in Chicago.

"The saddest thing in golf isn't a muffed two foot putt that loses a big championship," said Gene, a married man himself. "It's those zealous and gossiping wives of our playing professionals who haunt their hubands and watch them fire veery shot in a money tournament or open championship. It's time the shackled pros arose in a body and told them to stay home, watch their pro shops or sew buttons on the old man's shirts.

"Those women are the curse of golf today. Take the average one of them, who pursues her husband, a good golfer with a good chance to get somewhere in an important championship. What happens? Every time he goes to make a shot—a shot that may win or lose the title or a thousand dollars—he sees his wife staring at him with these words in her eyes: 'If you miss this shot and let Mrs. Bloke's husband beat you, why'—The poor guy may have a fighting heart like Jack Dempsey's but who can blame him for getting the shakes? He misses the shot and gets a drity look. Thinks his wife: 'I can see that smart Mrs. Bloke giving me the high hat now.' No sir. Women like that are so strong psychologically that they beat their husbands and turn golf tournaments into 'hen' sesisons. Oh, I know. Many a time, I've heard a wife give one of my victims a piece of her mind."

Sarazen said Mrs. Sarazen is an ideal professional's wife as she never follows him and seldom talk about golf when he comes home. With that he paid tribute to the wife of Paul Runyan, most successful of the money playing pros last winter.

"She's one woman who minds her own bsiness," Gene said. "After he had won a certain championship, Runyan telephoned his wife.

"'Honey, I just won,' he said.

"'Fine,' she shot back, 'when you come home, bring two loaves of bread. We've got company for dinner'."

Roosevelt under threat of kidnaping the Roosevelt grandchildren, "Sistie" and "Buzzie". Dall. President Roosevelt urged thorough medical attention be given the former navy machinist who spent eight years in hospitals after being struck on the head by an airplane propellor in 1922 at Pensacola, Fla. MOVEMENT TO LIMIT ISSUANCE OF RELIEF BONDS VOTED DOWN

OTHER AMENDMENTS TO CUT DOWN ISSUE STILL PENDING IN HOUSE

AUSTIN, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A move to limit issuance of bonds for winter relief needs to $4,750,000 was defeated in the Texas House today, 79 to 56.

A bill to issue $9,500,000 in relief bonds was before the house. Amendments were pending to limit the issue to $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

The amendment to issue only $4,750,000 in bonds was proposed by Representative Jasper Reed of Texarkana. Representative Albert Walker of Vernon advocated issuance of $6,000,000 while Representative Harlee Morrison of Kaufman suggested the $5,000,000 issue.

Action on the bill was delayed about an hour while the house worked itself out of a snarl over procedure. A bloc seeking to determine if a change in personnel of the Texas relief commission was desired sought a quick veto on amendments to provide for appointment of a three member, full time salaried board. Others wanted the amount of bonds to be decided before acting on other sections.

The senate pursued its inquiry into relief administration with Earle P. Adams, a relief commissioner, as a witness. Adams crit-

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A young married couple, both wounded by pistol bullets as they sat in an automobile in Alamo Heights, remained in critical conditions today as officers attempted to establish a motive for the shootings.

W. C. Miller, assistant city marshal of Alamo Heights, said he found the wounded pair in an automobile.

Mrs. Ruth Sinks, 30, sobbed: "I love him so—I love him so."

Walter D. Sinks, her husband, taken to a hospital, said "Don't prosecute her, it's all my fault," and then made no further comment. Mrs. Sinks probably will die, physicians said.

Thousands Left Homeless Result Luzon Typhoon

MANILA, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Thousands of residents in the Provinces of Ilocos Notre and Cagayan were reported today to have been left homeless after a typhoon had swept over the northern tip of Luzon.

While no loss of life was reported, hundreds of flimsily constructed homes collapsed or were washed away in floods. Six inches of rain fell in some places.

Latest reports indicated the disturbance had struck southern Formosa and was moving toward the northwest.

Accurate data on damage to the rice and tobacco crops, principal products of the northern Luzon region, awaited restoration of wire communications.

TEN KNOWN DEAD IN TWO SOUTHERN STATES THURSDAY

SIX KILLED AND MANY ARE WOUNDED AT HONEA PATH MILL EARLY TODAY

By the Associated Press

Ten men were dead today and scores injured as striking textile workers sought by picketing and "flying squadrons" to close mills still operating and prevent mill employes from reporting for work. Shot guns, dynamite, sandbag barricades, clubs and tear gas were used by one side or the other.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the general strike committee, in Washington, said that the union would agree to arbitration only after all mills in all divisions of the industry were closed.

His statement followed the announcement of Governor John G. Winant, of New Hampshire, chairman of the board appointment by President Roosevelt last night to inquire into the strike, that he would fly to Washington today for a conference with other members of the board tomorrow.

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, said that "all other questions have been replaced by one paramount issue: ten lives have been needlessly sacrificed in conflict over the inalienable right to work."

While many workers and mill operators resisted efforts to force shutdowns with force, the number of idle continued to grow in all sections of the industry.

An additional 35,000 were idle today bringing the total to 365,000. In New England mill centers where resistance on the part of those still working was strong additional sections were affected. The total number of idle operatives was placed at 133,000 out of 229,000 normally employed in the New England states.

In New Jersey and Pennsylvania striking silk workers increased the number of idle. Strikers in the Paterson, N. J., area were told that the fate of the general strike rests with them.

Violence In South

In the south violence was not widespread and the number of idle in the industry increased to over 170,000 out of 300,000 normally employed.

In an effort to stop violence in South Carolina where seven were killed today, Governor Blackwood reached an agreement with state textile leaders to poll all workers at plants in a state of controversy to determine whether they

MEDIATION BOARD READY BUT NEITHER SIDE ASKS SERVICE

DEATHS AND INCREASING VIOLENCE MARKED SPREADING TEXTILE STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Deaths and increasing violence marked the textile strike today as a Presidential board of inquiry began to delve into the many ramifications of the controversy.

Empowered to act as arbitrator if requested, the board gave some hope of settlement, although neither the employers nor the workers gave any indication they were ready to arbitrate their differences.

Francis J. Gorman, national strike chief, expressing the hope the board's inquiry would lead to a fair settlement, nevertheless declared: "We're going to keep on striking."

George A. Sloan, president of the cotton textile institute, said the board would receive the "utmost respect."

The strike spread swiftly yesterday, attended by growing strife resulting in two deaths, injuries to two score persons and increased tension in all textile areas. Many more mills closed down completely and there were

RAYBURN ADMITS HE EXPECTS TO BE SPEAKER OF HOUSE

TEXAN TELLS REPORTERS IN WASHINGTON HE EXPECTS TO SUCCEED TO POST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas told reporters today he expected to be the next speaker of the house.

Returning to Washington to open his campaign, he said he would not be running for the high post unless he thought he would win.

Rayburn, who has the support of some administration officials, is opposed by five other Democratic candidates including Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, the party leader, Bankhead of Alabama, Rankin of Mississippi, Green of Florida, and Sabath of Illinois.

There are reports that McCormack of Massachusetts and Mead of New York are considering running.

The post was made vacant by the death of Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois.

Questioned as to his support for the speakership, Rayburn said he had "quite a number of votes pledged" and added:

"I am satisfied with the situation at this time. I have not enough votes pledged to elect me now and don't expect to until after the November elections when the real campaign gets started."

Asked whether his coming from Texas, which provides the vice president, John N. Garner, and chairmen of six important house committees, would be a handicap, Rayburn said:

"I don't look upon the speakership as a sectional office. Besides, there are precedents in which the speaker and vice president have come from the same state, the last of which was Speaker Gillett and Vice President Coolidge, both from Massachusetts."

MAN WHO PUT CLYDE BARROW AND BONNIE PARKER ON SPOT JAILED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Picked out of a line of eight prisoners, Henry Methvin, 23, arrested here Wednesday by Sheriff T. R. Hughes, today was "partially identified" as one of the men who on last April 18, held up and robbed the bank of Montgomery, La.

Partial identification was made by Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wardlaw, president and cashier of the bank, respectively, who were in the bank when it was held up and robbed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardlaw were brought here by Sheriff W. L. Nugent, of Grant parish, and viewed Methvin in the Caddo parish jail

When the first saw the prisoner, former companion of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, Methvin was in line with seven other prisoners in the corridor of the jail.

"I'm satisfied that's him," Sheriff Nugent said, after looking Methvin over and after Mr. and Mrs. Wardlaw had pointed him out.

Sheriff Nugent said that a charge of bank robbery would be filed against Methvin as soon as he was returned to Grant parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardlaw, while not absolutely positive in their identification, declared that "that's his eyes," (the man who held them up).

"I'd rather see him with a few days growth of beard before I say positively that he is the man," Mrs. Wardlaw said. She declared that the robber who stuck a sawed off shotgun through the teller's cage at her had not shaved for several days.

Mr. Wardlaw was more positive in his identification, declaring that if Methvin was not one of the robbers, he certainly answered the description.

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Youhtful Henry Methvin, escaped Texas convict who "put the finger" on Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, his former crime companions, sulked in the Caddo Parish jail today and charged "frameup" as Texas rangers prepared to come here to question him about the ruthless killings of two Texas highway patrolmen.

Recently pardoned by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson for lending information that led to the killing of Clyde and Bonnie, Methvin brazenly walked into sheriff T. R. Hughes' office to obtain clothing which belonged

MORE THAN 360,000 STRIKERS LISTED BY INDEPENDENT SURVEY

ASSOCIATED PRESS CHECK OUT OF LINE WITH EMPLOYERS AND LEADERS

By The Associated Press.

More than 360,000 textile workers out of 700,000 normally employed were idle today because of the general strike in the industry, an independent survey indicated today.

The total was based on reports from staff correspondents and members of the Associated Press. Some of the estimates are higher than those of employers and lower than those of union leaders:

STRIKE BOARD

indications othrs would follow suit today.

Approximately 336,000 workers joined the movement as the strike entered its fourth day, an Associated Press survey showed. This would indicate the walkout was approximately 50 per cent effective over the entire cotton, woolen and silk industry which normally employs in the neighborhood of 650,000 workers. The independent figure was challenged by both union leaders and manufacturers. The strike leaders asserted the number of workers now on strike had reached 540,000. Employers, although making no estimates of the number idle contended the total was less by far.

Seek Close More Plants.

Strike leaders continued their drive to close more plants and add more workers to the walkout. New groups of "flying squadrons" were organized to line up operatives still working. New England leaders planned to intensify their picketing against Rhode Island and Massachusetts mills. Activity of picketing groups continued in the southern areas.

The board of inquiry named by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park yesterday comprises Governor John G. Winant of New Hampshire, Raymond V. Ingersoll, Borough president of Brooklyn, and Marion Smith, Atlanta attorney and son of the late Hoke Smith, former United States senator and governor.

The board is directed to inquire into the complaints of the textile workers and into the problems of the employers, and to consider ways and means of meeting said problems and complaints." It is directed to report to the secretary of labor not later than October 1.

Number on Strike Increases.

The gigantic walkout increased steadily as thousands in the South, New England and Middle Atlantic states joined the picket lines.

Blood was spilled in Georgia and the Carolinas, and sporadic disorders added to anxiety.

Two men were killed, one a mill guard, and more than a score injured in a gun battle between pickets and mill guards at Trion, Ga.

Throughout the south, clashes between officers and strikers were frequent, fists and clubs swung freely, and women prominent in the conflicts.

In both of the Carolinas militia was on duty. Governor Ehringhaus of North Carolnia ordered Adjutant General J. Van B. Meets to "use such troops as are necessary to preserve order." Troops had been at trouble centers in South Carolina since Monday.

Charges Of Intimidation.

Manufacturers hurled charges of "intimidation" as the spectacular "flying squadrons" of union members dashed from plant to plant, forcing shutdowns that added new thousands to the army of strikers.

In New England, where the turnout Tuesday was considerably less than had been expected by the union, the strike rolled on, closing the great textile centers of Fall River and New Bedford tightly, with 40,000 idle, and extending steadily into the mills of the Blackstone Valley of Rhode Island.

The union, well satisfied with the opening day's response of the cotton textile workers, concentrated yesterday on the silk industry, adding thousands to strike ranks and paralysing the important silk center of Paterson, N. J.

The labor leaders planned a drive today on woolen mills, promising action at the huge companies in Lawrence and Lowell, Mass.

Harold Melear of Longview spent Wednesday night and Thursday morning with his parents, Judge and Mrs. H. S. Melear.

icized federal relief policies and said they hampered the Texas relief commission.

Walker Suggests $6,000,000.

Walker argued that $6,000,000 if proudently expended would carry on relief until January when the regular session could issue the additional $3,500,000 in bonds. He asserted the federal government would aid if proceeds from the $6,000,000 bond sale were exhausted before that time. Reed made the same argument with reference to his proposal to issue $4,750,000.

The charge that field agents of the federal emergency relief administration "very delicately applied thumbscrews" to make Texas relief commission policies ineffectual was made by Adams.

He added the charge that the FERA also was trying to make relief a permanent policy and declared "I have never seen people so cowed as they are about this relief. I am afraid they consider Mr. Hopkins (Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator) is a big, bad wolf up there."

Adams declared newspapers jumped on nearly everybody else (in state relief) but I haven't seen them jump on Mr. Hopkins."

"Doesn't every county stand in the same position with Adam Johnson (Texas director) as the state with Hopkins?" asked Senator Will Martin of Hillsboro. 'If our counties offend Johnson, aren't they afraid Adam Johnson will close the purse?"

"I don't think so," answered Adams.

Mayor W. L. Blanchard of Orange defended relief administration in Orange county against a petition recently filed by the veterans club of America of Orange. He termed the organization "the red wing of veterans of foreign wars" and asserted relief administration in his county was above average in efficiency.

Blanchard explained the relief burden in Orange county was abnormally heavy because of depletion of timber, the raw material used by many manufacturing plants which were forced to close.

house just before midnight and demanded that the men surrender. One of them opened fire with a machine gun from a barn loft and the officers answered with a withering fire and Bunch and Kuykendall surrendered.

Sheriff Davis said the men told him they had hitch-hiked into Sherman yesterday, after "leaving" another man alone just across the Red River in Oklahoma.

A. A. Dawson, county attorney at Canton, said he believed Blair was not in East Texas and probably was the man from whom Kuykendall and Bunch separated.

Dawson said Kuykendall, who later was transferred to the Smith county jail at Tyler, probably would be charged with assault with intent to murder or murder, depending on the outcome of the wounds Hanlon Burnett, the deputy sheriff suffered in the fight.

The attorney said Kuykendall had made a statement to him concerning the movements of the three since their escape from the Tecumseh jail.

Escaped August 20th.

SHAWNEE, Okla., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Pottawatomie county officers said today they believed the two men held at Dallas and Canton, Texas, following a gunfight last night, are Ted Roberts and Malloy Kuykendall, who escaped from the county jail at Tecumseh August 20 with Leonard Blair.

Sheriff W. A. Roberts and other officers left today for Texas to identify the pair and to return them to Tecumseh, if they are the men wanted.

The three men who got away from the Tecumseh jail overpowered Ed Milligan, the jailer, forced him into a cell and locked members of the sheriff's family in their quarters below the jail.

TESTIMONY SHOWS U. S. REFUSED LET RUSSIA BUY SUBS

Lead—Testimony shows .....B

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Evidence that the British government had given Japan the design for the "K" type of submarine was presented today to the senate munitions committee.

Letters from Henry R. Carse, president of the Electric Boat company of New London, Conn., to L. Y. Spear, a vice president, said it seemed as "though Vickers has double-crossed us in Japan in not having the contract executed by Mistubisiti, which I sent them in 1916 which provided for a royalty of ten per cent of the gross price.

"I know they have given you an explanation that the British government had given the plans of the 'K' boats to Japan and therefore Mistubisiti did not think it necessary to go forward with our contract."

Vickers, Ltd., was an English concern with which Electric Boat had a working agreement. Mistubisiti was a Japanese shipbuilding concern. The letters were written in 1926.

Other testimony showed Electric Boat had vetoed a suggestion that its Paris representative attend the London Naval conference and that an offer to pay $12,500 to a Turkish minister of defense had been made in 1924 if Electric Boat received a contract to build a submarine for Turkey.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Testimony that the state department refused permission in 1929 for an American concern to sell submarines to Russia was given today to the senate munitions committee.

L. Y. Spear a vice president of the Electric Boat company of New London, Conn., said Amtorg, the Soviet trading corporation in New York, had asked about the prospect of buying undersea boats from the American concern.

"We referred the matter to the State department," said Spear, "and were told that we should not sell such equipment to Russia. Naturally, the thing went no further."

The testimony came amid an excursion by the investigators into the ramifications of European armament sales during which it was developed that agents of the Electric Boat company had protested that German shipbuilders had "violated the treaty of Versailles" by organizing companies in Holland to build submarines.

A letter from Paul Koster, Paris agent of the company, to Carse, said, "we may then get the allies to enforce the treaty of Versailles," in that connection.

ture into special session and get these crooks and thugs out of here immediately."

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's "dictatorship" laws become binding on Louisiana tomorrow noon.

Adopted at the recent extra session of the legislature, they give the state administration, allied with Long, blanket powers to act in almost any emergency.

Long's political enemies in the "old regular" machine which has ruled New Orleans for years are preparing for the stroke.

Many expressions of life in this gay, old city will be danced to the tempo of the newly formed state police or a free-handed national guard if the "Kingfish" chooses to have them enforce the new laws.

With dissemination of race horse news unlawful, publications specializing in such information plan to leave the city and newspapers say they will carry no racing news "until further notice.' Illegal bookmaking establishments must close.

Today the legislative committee continued its investigation of "vice and graft" in New Orleans under the administration of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley. Witnesses have testified that lottery companies, race horse "bookies" and vice establishments paid "protection" money to the city police.

Mayor Walmsley announced his desire to defend his record before the committee as an auditor was assigned to check the city books to gain information on financial transactions.

A. Miles Pratt, city commissioner of finance and taxation, declared that the city had "nothing to hide."

SIX-STATE MEETING ON DROUGHT RELIEF FOR SAN ANGELO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The federal relief administration disclosed today Assistant Administrator Lawrence Westbrook had called a six-state meeting to be in San Angelo, Texas, Tuesday with a view to reorganizing and strengthening drought relief in the Southwest.

Westbrook will invite state and county officials, representative ranchers and farmers and all others interested to the conference, in an effort to obtain the best opinion as to the immediate and winter needs of the drought area.

States to be represented are Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Reports that such a meeting was in prospect were repeatedly denied yesterday both at the relief administration and at the farm administration.

Those attending the meeting will include representatives of the relief administration, the farm administration and the farm credit administration.

Houston Harte, member of the Texas relief commission and a prominent Texas publisher, will preside over the conference.

Westbrook left today for Texas. He will go first to Houston, to attend a rural rehabilitation conference, and then on to San Angelo.

Senator Schall Again Takes Up Press Charges

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept 4.—(AP)—Charging the federal administration has begun "false and exaggerated" government reports as propaganda to support the New Deal," Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota today set forth an eight-point "bill of particulars" as alleged proof of his press censorship accusations against President Roosevelt.

In a telegram to President Roosevelt, Senator Schall asserted he had insufficient space to present comprehensively proof of his earlier charges that attempts were being made to establish a press censorship in the United States.

"Unless public sentiment and voters prevent," Senator Schall said, "we shall have a federalized national press service run by those in power to perpetuate them in power."

He alleged that with the "downfall of press freedom in Italy and under Hitler and Stalin, has gone the entire legislative power of the people," and asserted that the present press associations "will no longer be able to warn the public and expose the 'crackdown' folly of a General Johnson, an anemic Tugwell, and the actions of a Morgenthau who wipes out a $4,000,000,000 treasury deficit by edict and monkeying with artificial gold values."

The senator has launched an assault on the NRA and the president's administration for a year and a half, climaxing recently in press censorship charges which the president called upon Schall to prove.

Hoyt Moore Weds Lera Minatra In Quiet Ceremony

A marriage of interest to a large circle of Corsicana and Navarro county friends was that of Hoyt Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs Byrne Moore of Purdon, who has been with the First National Bank the past five years, as bookkeeper, and Miss Lera Minatra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Minatra also of Bryan, near Purdon.

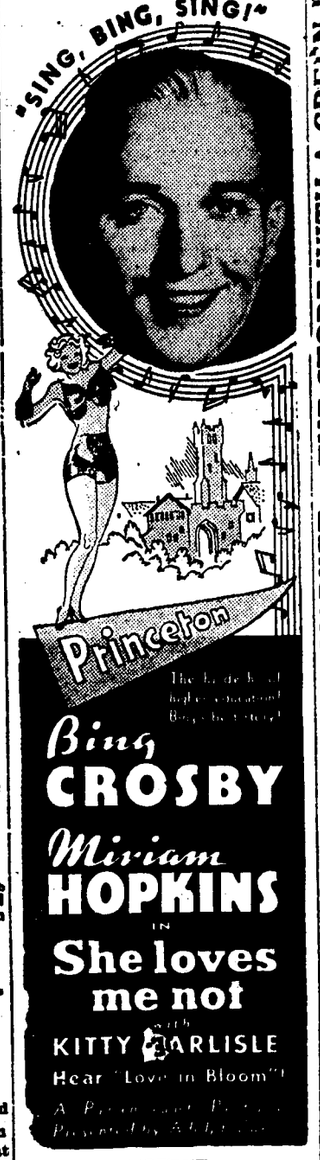

The impressive ring ceremony that united these two young people, was read by the Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in his home Saturday morning, September 1, 1934, in the presence of the parents of both the bride and bridegroom.

The bride, who graduated the past year from the Blooming Grove high school, was becomingly gowned in a navy blue sheer trimmed in white, with accessories to harmonize.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Moore went to their attractively furnished cottage, 735 West Second avenue, where they are at home to their relatives and friends.

HOUSE REFUSED TO CONCUR IN SENATE RESOLUTION TODAY

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A senate effort to adjourn a special relief session of the Texas legislature at midnight Saturday was speedily defeated in the house today.

Both houses immediately resumed an investigation into relief expenditures preparatory to action on a bill to issue state relief bonds. J. F. Reed of Mountain Home, member of the Texas relief commission, continued as the senate witness and James T. Duke, special auditor for the Texas relief commission, appeared before the house.

Little debate preceded house action on the senate adjournment resolution. It was defeated 86 to 35. The resolution was adopted by the senate, 14 to 7.

Belief that the adjournment date would not be satisfactory to the house had been expressed in the senate.

"I am reliably informed the house relief bill can not be passed by Saturday night," said Senator J. W. F. H. Beck of DeKalb. Issuance of $9,500,000 state relief bonds was the purpose for which Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson convened the session.

"If the session runs 30 days, it is most likely the bill will be passed in the last 48 hours," answered Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur, author of the resolution. "There is a reasonable certainty the bill will be written in a conference, so it doesn't make much difference what the house and senate do. The sooner we send it to conference, the sooner we will get away, as the people are demanding."

No Bill in Senate.

No relief bill has been introduced in the senate. Administration leaders decided to await arrival of the house bill which is pending before a committee of the whole house.

Reed warned the senate the remaining $9,500,000 state relief bonds "will play out before the problem is solved" and suggested localities should be required to assume some of the relief burden "at the quickest moment."

"The sooner counties bear a part of the burden, the sooner we will see the end of this sort of thing," he predicted.

Reed parried evasive answers to an extended line of questioning directed by Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur and others on past practices in relief administration.

Senator Albert Stone of Brenham interrupted to inquire of the purpose of the interrogatins.

"I am trying to show the fundamental causes of relief commission unrest, and that this individual (Reed) is as responsible as any other single person," explained Woodruff.

"I think you are more responsible than I am, for passing that relief law at the last special session," quickly retorted Reed.

He defended his nomination of Miss Marie Dresden to succeed Adam R. Johnson as state director. He asserted he "believed the five members who removed her were motivated by political reasons," and admitted under cross questioning by Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata, that "perhaps a majority of those who put her in had political motives." He disclaimed he was influenced politically, however, but believed she would "make a vast improvement."

He condemned the commission as functioning "lousily" and asserted actually he was not a member, although his resignation had not been officially accepted by Speaker Coke R. Stevenson.

The senate steering committee requested appearance Friday of R. L. Holliday of El Paso, commissioner around whose membership revolved the interchange of Miss Dresden and Johnson as state directors.

Tomorrow the senate planned to question Donald O'Neil of Dallas, purchaser of the previous state relief securities, concerning changes which would make the bonds more attractive to buyers.

Duke recommended that broad powers be vested in the state relief director to give him absolute control of county relief administrators, now appointed by county relief boards and subject only to minor supervision by the state.

Duke said there was a lack of uniformity in pay and considerable duplication of work in the state headquarters. The duplication has been eliminated.

The house planned to hear Ed Hussion of Houston, only member of the Texas relief commission appointed by Gov Miriam A. Ferguson, before adjourning its inquiry.

E. R. Lorden, assistant auditor for the Texas relief commission, has been called to interpret a financial prospectus prepared by the commission showing anticipated expenditures of $34,000,000 from Oct. 1 through April.

The house steering committee announced it hoped to conclude the hearings today or tomorrow.

AUSTIN, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Vice President John N. Garner today was invited to address the Texas house of representatives, of which he is a former member. The address would be made at the vice president's convenience.

Mixup Has Delayed Purchase of Cattle

Navarro county stock owners who hoped to sell distress cattle to the federal government under the emergency drought relief provisions have been disappointed this week through a mix-up in arrangements. Cattle have been penned in several communities in the county both Monday and Tuesday but could not be purchased because of a shift in crews.

Under the changed assignments, Navarro county was left with a veterinarian but no appraiser and the work was brought to a standstill, officials reported.

SOUTH CAROLINA BANK IS ROBBED OF $100,000 WEDNESDAY

LAKE CITY, S. C., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Three men robbed the Palmetto Bank of Lake City of approximately $100,000 today after kidnaping J. H. Carter, the bank president, and his wife from their home and tying Carter's two children to their beds.

The robbers invaded Carter's home about 8:15 a. m., 45 minutes before the opening hour of the bank, and held up the family with pistols.

The two Carter children, the eldest, Athale, a 16-year-old girl, and Jimmy 12 were bound to two beds with adhesive tape and Carter and his wife forced to accompany the robbers to the bank.

En route there, the leader of the trio, a young hed-haired man, told Carter they were taking him to open the vault after the time-lock made it possible.

At the bank, however, they found Fred Stalvey, the cashier, had already arrived and the vault was unlocked. Taking what money was in the vault, the robbers then forced the two bankers and Mrs. Cater into their car and left.

Three blocks from the bank Mrs. Carter was put out and the robbers drove off with Carter and Stavey.

Mrs. Carter ran home and released her children and then advised officers of the robbery.

By that time the robbers were out of Lake City and the first word of them again came when Carter and Stalvey telephone from Lamar, 30 miles from here, that they had been released unharmed.

NORTH BERGEN, N. J., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Six men all armed and some carrying sub machine guns, held up employes and customers of the North Bergin Trust company today and escaped with an estimated $15,000.

Robert Threet And Rotilda Castle Wed At Refugio Tuesday

Robert Threet, former Corsicana resident, and Miss Rotilda Castle were married at the home of Rev. S. B. Long at Refugio, Texas, Tuesday night at 8:30 according to information received by friends here Wednesday. They will make their home at Refugio and moved into their new residence immediately after the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Castle of Corsicana, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr and Mrs. W. O. Threet of the Phillips Chapel community. The bride's father accompanied her to Refugio for the ceremony.

Mr. Threet is employed by an oil company at Refugio.

R. L. WHEELOCK ET AL TEST TO BE DRILLED TO CONTRACT DEPTH

Drilling and coring was the order for the day on the R. L. Wheelock et al Cerf No. 1 Trinity sand test Wednesday and the bit was reported below the 5486 foot level. Sponsors of the well said that the test would be taken to the 6500 foot level unless oil in paying quantities was found at a lesser depth.

Further impetus was given interest in the search of the lower pay horizons Wednesday when reliable reports were received that sponsors of the Peyton Brothers Trinity sand test on the Stubenrauch farm west of the Mexia oil field were to decide during the day whether they would set casing and test the sand from which they had secured saturated cores.

It was indicated that pipe would be set about the 5560 foot level, and then a drill stem test made of the favorable sand found at 5525. The crew was reported circulating but not drilling Wednesday in order to keep the hole in good condition.

With a considerable difference in elevation between the Corsicana and Mexia tests, many oil operators have consistently refused to become discouraged over the outcome of a drillstem test made in the Cerf well Monday night, especially in the face of well-founded reports that the gas sand encountered in the Mexia test had a brackish taste.

Both local and foreign major and independent operators are keeping close tab on both tests. Little trading in leases and royalty has been reported, although numerous inquiries have been made, the scattered ownership of surface rights preventing quick trades.

ONE RULER'S WAY OF FACING A NATIONAL DEPRESSION

An Ancient King Who Thought in Large Terms and Appealed to Basic Emotions---A Historical, Religious Revival Among the Jews of Hezekiah's Day.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Everybody who sits in a watch-tower these days observes that people are all thinking in larger terms. The war and the depression have shaken us out of our provincialism. National thinking has increased immeasurably, and world thinking is not lagging far behind. Viewpoints have enlarged, horizons have widened, sympathies have increased. Drought in the West becomes the deep concern of the East. A strike in San Francisco agitates the entire United States. What is going on in Japan and Germany stirs the whole world. Events in Austria set civilization's nerves a-quiver.

Dimly, the people are coming to understand that what affects any of us also affects all of us; and that the whole is but the sum of all of its parts. What the physicians call "local treatment" cannot cure the ills of the body politic. Effective remedies must deal with the entire system. That is why the United States and Canada, and nations abroad, are handling the unemployment and relief problem on a federal scale.

Old King Hezekiah, who began to reign over Judah more than seven hundred years before the birth of Christ, was well aware of this big, basic truth. So our newest ideas are not so new, after all. Hezekiah saw unrest and disaster abroad in Israel and Judah. The Northern Kingdom had already suffered the early incursions of the Assyrians—a movement that was to grow until soon the whole nation of Israel would be taken into exile. "The times were out of joint." Economic and social distress had developed from the abandonment of the ancient integrities of life. Religion had been debased and idolatry had become prevalent. As always, a slump in morals and in prosperity had followed the loss of spiritual ideals.

Doing Something About It.

No cracker-box wiseacre was Hezekiah, grumbling footlessly about what somebody else ought to do. He was a king and a leader. His sense was sound. So he saw that a mighty wave of national awakening was necessary to cure a multitude of evil local conditions. "The rising tide lifts all ships." For the task before him no ordinary laws or edicts would suffice. Only a great surge of religious sentiment—one of mankind's master motives—could avail to raise the Chosen People to their former level of life.

Super-statesmanship was shown by this ancient sovereign in thus harnessing heaven to elevate earth. He knew that people are ruled by their emotions; and that the religious emotion is mightiest of all. Hezekiah had never heard of "mass psychology" but his judgment and observation told him that if he could get the people as a whole stirred up to do their religious duty all that was wrong would be made right. A religious revival has cleaned up many a community more effectively than the police could do. It was a spiritual arousal that had made the Jews a nation; so the king sought to enlist the same force in remaking them, as he called for a pan-Jewish Passover celebration in Jerusalem. He knew the tug which an appeal to natural history makes upon the normal heart.

On a Large Scale.

It was a master stroke to extend the call to backsliding Israel to the North. Probably the invitation would not be accepted by some; but many faithful souls would answer; and his own people would be stirred by the thought of a revived religious solidarity. Doubtless not all communities in the United States and Canada will hold National Accognition Day celebrations for Sunday School Teachers, in October 6, but the vastness of the project will be felt by those which do observe the day. Hezekiah's comprehensive invitation set the ancient feelings of religious and national solidarity to coursing through th hearts of the Hebrews everywhere.

From crag-crested Dan on the north to desert-levl Beersheba on the south, couriers of the king carried the invitation to everybody to come to Jerusalem and keep the Passover as of old. Even now we may imagine the excitement in every walled town and wayside village, as the king's messenger read the royal rescript. Here was something to talk about. As a feat of propaganda the king's purpose and edict was a success.

The Mysterious Tunnel.

Every now and again I run across the notion, especially among modern young people who have been through high school, that the Bible is only a collection of old fables, with no historical foundation, and so no longer to be taken seriously by intelligent persons. Yes; that is how "dumb" a host of persons are, in these wide-awake days. And they feel themselves "superior;" although their ignorance entitles them only to pity, tinged with contempt.

Let us tarry for a moment with King Hezekiah, to nail this benightedness. Hezekiah was as real a man as Roosevelt; and his story is documented by contemporary records of the Assyrians and the Hebrews. One of his works stands today a marvel and mystery of achievement, baffling the wisest modern engineers. When Jerusalem was menaced by Sennacharib, and the city's sole water supply threatened, Hezekiah ordered a tunnel dug to carry the water to what was called the Pool of Siloam, within the old city walls. The workmen began at both ends simultaneously, and, for unknown reasons, followed a serpentine course, and met in the middle, with the grade exactly right for the flow of the water. It still runs today; and the oldest Hebrew inscription extant, cut by the workmen into the walls of the tunnel to commemorate the feat, may be seen in the museum in Istanbul. This is only one of scores of dramatic archaeological corroborations of the authenticity of the Bible record.

It was a very much alive, flesh and blood Hezekiah whose statesmanship and religious leadership we study in the present lesson. Times may change, and civilizations collapse, but human nature and its need for God, continue the same.

Down to Date.

While our lesson tale is of interest as a vivid historical event of 2,600 years ago, it is of most importance as a monition for today. In a time of national crisis, we may well follow Hezekiah's example, as many living voices are calling upon us to do. We need to get back to first principles, and to the master motives. A new spirit in all the people alone can effect the results which we seek. An the lowest political and economic basis, a revival of religion is indicated as our basic need.

As Hezekiah's eloquent letter laid down the proposition it was simply this: 'Jehovah your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn His face from you, if we return unto Him."

There we have an enduring platform of recovery. A popular religious awakening will change all things that need to be changed. It will straighten out crookedness in finance and politics. It will re-establish the Christian virtues in the home, and in social relationships. It will purify the motion pictures, the stage and the gutter press. It will abate the crime menace and solve the liquor question. It will fertilize the barren thinking of our young people. It will set people to living at their best, instead of at their worst. I will recognize he sovereignty of the Lord over all of life.

Hezekiah's plan succeeded, as will any sincere modern duplication of it.

HOOVER APPEALED FOR OPEN HEARTED GIVING WEDNESDAY

FORMER PRESIDENT CHARACTERIZES PRESENT AS 'YEARS OF GREAT TEST'

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Characterizing the present as "the years of a great test" Former President Herbert Hoover appealed here today for open-hearted giving to the needy.

"In these days when so many think to rid humanity of its faults by discard also of its hard-won virtues," he said, "it is strengthening to see this great group intent upon resolute organization to maintain the high virtue of charity."

While the former national chief executive addressed a joint meeting of 65 local service clubs in launching of the community chest drive here, his appeal was not to Los Angeles alone. The program was broadcast over both national radio chains.

"These are times when the need is greater and when giving is more difficult," Mr. Hoover continued. "They are the years of a great test. They are times which summon devotion and sacrifice.

"We must recognize that in this last half century we have herded fifty million beings into towns and cities where the whole setting is new and unaccustomed to our race.

"We have created these congested areas, with their thousand restrictions upon human life, through our swift transition of an agricultural people to an urban industrial nation. We thereby have lessened those acquaintances friendships, and obligations of neighbors. Many of us are strangers to the house next door.

Neighborly Relation Lost.

"That relation of country neighbors is lost wherein you borrowed two eggs and a pint of sugar, and lent a hand at raising his roof, where your neighbors nursed your sick and took to the firesides the orphan and the destitute. But more, we have lessened that character-building which comes not only from responsibility to the neighbor in life and death, but from family intimacy, from adventure of children in the fields and the brooks and the freedom of space.

"The blocks of houses, the streets, the radio, the movies, new competitions, new aspirations, all have produced a new complexity of life, but human nature has still its old simplicity of needs.

"Architectural wizardy and artistic skill, great parks and boulevards, may translate cities into wonderlands, but they do not create the arts of living and character building. Character building has become a problem of the community. That is perhaps the greatest human problem.

Sense of Personal Service.

"Some of these responsibilities to children are answered by the city and the state through parks, public health activities, and education, supported by tax revenues. But there are other responsibilities which are beyond the reach of government. They must rest upon the sense of personal service in the community.

"A kindly clinic, a cheerful hospital, a good home for the homeless children, must provide the makings of physical stamina in many of your future citizens. But beyond even this, one Boy Scout or Girl Scout troop, or one good community nurse today will prevent more evil ten years hence than ten policeman."

The community chest as a method of organization, Mr. Hoover said no longer requires either explanation or defense.

"It is a mobilization and concentration of effort that has demonstrated its worth over years in all our great cities," he declared. "It has proved its values in more effective support and wiser administration of those hundreds of institutions which are so necessary part of community life. x x

"Thousands of families who are not reached by official agencies in these times are dependent upon you."

Wallace Sets Price on Tax Certificates

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today set a price for a tax exempt certificates upon cotton production at four cents a pound on the cotton they represented. A farmer who sells his excess certificates will be paid roughly on the basis of $20 per bale.

At the same time the secretary created a national pool to direct sale and purchase of tht certificates, which were issued under the Bankhead production control act and represent the total amount of cotton a farmer may produce tax free. Production above quotas set under the act is subject to a tax of 50 per cent of its value

The pool will permit the sale of excess certificates by farmers in the drought area, where production has been sharply cut. They will be sold principally in the Old South where production is prospectively greater than Bankhead allotments.

CORSICANA, TEX., SEPT. 7, 1934

STANDARDS OF LIVING

As American Labor faces the sixth winter of its distress, it finds the nation beset by baffling problems. Must we all come to a lower standard of living? Will the unemployed, morale sapped by idleness and dole, become unemployable, millions always dependent on the rest, draining from them all margin of comfort and progress?

When a thinking man considers the rapid rise in American standards of living, due so largely to invention and use of the machine, this is hard to believe. When he considers the immense amounts of money and other wealth tied up, frozen, rendered unusable by a mere mental deadlock, he can still less believe it.

It was not the machine which has brought us to this pass. That was almost wholly beneficent. It was the diversion of the profits made by the machine into narrow channels where they became destructive, rather than into a smooth, gentle flood, irrigating and fertilizing broadly like the waters of the Nile.

The thinker wants to be fair. He realizes that most capitalists and employers did not know at the start that this diversion was wrong. But everyone knows it now or should know it. It is easy to see, to say that it was wrong. To right that wrong is immensely difficult, immensely complicated. It cannot be done swiftly lest greater wrongs ensue. But it can be done.

"Every problem," states the architect, "has its solution. And no problem is solved until it is solved right. But the solution, when arrived at, is apt to be very different from what you thought it would be when you began."

And so as the worker enters this sixth winter, he looks forward to no lower standard of living for anyone, but rather to higher standards for all. Resources in materials and men are unspeakably great. Science and invention have only a start at what they can do for the benefit of all. The problems are faced and their solution has begun. There will be temporary discontent, distress before they are "solved right." There must be temporary compromises and makeshifts. These all must be met with patience, tolerance, willingness to go half way.

But we are not going to lower standards. We are going up the hard, high hill to a nobler, better day. This need not be a winter of despair. It can be the winter when American labor first takes firm hold of a greater hope.

That new American Liberty League, organized to combat radicalism, protect property rights and defend the Constitution seems to have forgotten that human rights and property rights occasionally conflict and that the former are more in need of protection sometimes than the latter.

American engineers are air conditioning deep gold mines in South Africa. They haven't yet learned how to moisture-condition North Dakota.

SURPLUS PEACHES

It was announced that California's crop of cling peaches would be excessive and that when every possible market was supplied there would remain a huge surplus of the fruit. Thereupon the federal relief administration asked California growers to donate the surplus peaches to be canned under government auspices for free distribution to persons on relief. The growers replied that the surplus crop was private property and no concern of the government. The Tacoma Ledger comments thus:

"From a legalistic standpoint that action of California fruit growers may not be attacked, but when it happens that the federal government is spending billions for the relief of suffering and when practically every community in the land is cheerfully contributing for the relief of suffering people, the refusal of any class to aid even when such aid would cost it nothing, is not a strong commentary upon the humaneness of people."

The incident is interesting for another reason. It suggests that there IS such a thing as a surplus food crop—from the marketing standpoint. In the case of wheat—growers of which are not organized as are the California fruit men—the unmarketable surplus drags down the price so that everybody loses all around. That surplus does not get to the hungry for bread any more than the artificially withheld peaches get to the hungry for fruit. The fruit growers, however, maintain their own profits as the wheat growers fail to do.

Clear thinking about these two examples sheds a little light on the task tackled and the methods tried by the AAA. Until the public recognizes the similarity of the unconsumed peaches to the government-slaughtered pigs, it hasn't faced the whole situation.

FOOD BUDGETS

Mental panic about the drouth is now giving way to sensible study of its probable effects on the cost of living and consequently on the long-suffering family budget. Steaks, it seems certain, will go back on the luxury list. Only those who can pay fancy prices will have steak whenever the spirit moves them.

According to the authorities there will be plenty of food, and much of it will be available at reasonable prices. It is to be a case of readjusting the items in the budget rather than of enlarging the whole budget. Humans will have to shift from scarce foods to abundant ones. That will be an annoyance to many, but need not mean much hardship.

Loans to farmers to save them from the necessity of dumping their products on the market seem sensible, on the whole. They enable the farmer to pay his debts when they come due and also to market the crops in orderly and profitable fashion.

Isn't it about time the federal government added to its records of those who get jobs accurate figures about those who do not get jobs?

PATENT PROTECTION

Inventors, at their Congress in Cincinnati, agreed to ask Congress to change the patent laws so that there will be an adjudication by the Government of a patent before it is issued. At present, inventors complain, a patent is a certificate which the patentee is required to defend in court against all comers and at considerable cost. Under the proposed change, the patent, when issued, would be an instrument of protection backed by the government. No further defense would be necessary. Germany, it is said, is the only country today that issues patents with such protection.

Inventions have been of great benefit to the public. Certain new inventions in the past have pulled the country out of depressions. It is hoped that some of the inventions in the making now will promote considerable new prosperity. But if inventors are to go on with their special work, they will have to have the protection they are seeking.

Possibly the true inventive genius would produce regardless of protection. Many of them have done so in the past. But if more of the rewards for their efforts can be assured to them, the public should see that it is done.

RECOVERY BONDS

There is said to be a plan afoot to sell government bonds directly to the public, as the Liberty Bonds were sold. Under certain circumstances the plan may be a good one.

The first essential is that they bear interest enough to make them comparable with deposits in savings banks. The second is some assurance as to the future value of the dollar.

It is always good business to have the government financing scattered among the people themselves rather than to have all of it done by banks. There is, for one thing, more interest in government when people have a direct stake in it. And it is good for people of small financial power to have a few government bonds put aside against a day of trouble, and to get the income from them as the years run along. These bonds make an excellent form of long-time safe investment.

Which brings up the second point. How safe are long-term bonds when the dollars which buy them are likely to depreciate greatly between purchase and maturity?

Memories of the past suggest a third circumstance. The recovery bonds should be sold on financial and not on moral grounds, nor should any family be made to feel itself outcast and pariah if it thinks best to invest its money otherwise. The buying of bonds should be offered as a privilege, made easy by small denominations and instalment payments.

NEW "GIN MARRIAGES"

The "gin marriage" was one of the social evils which seemed to thrive under prohibition. Young people would decide at a party to get married and would dash off in the early morning hours and do it without further ado or consideration. It was a great joke until the party spirit had worn off. Then, too often, it proved to be a tragedy. Annulments and divorces do not eradicate the wounds and scars usually made by such marriages.

In Ohio, one of the states which has enacted a law establishing an interval of several days between the application for a marriage license and issuance of the license, the mood-of-the-moment marriage has been checked. The law became effective in July 1931. In the three years since 900 couples, in one county have made application for licenses but have not returned at the expiration of the five days to clinch the business.

It would be interesting to have figures from the rest of Ohio and from other states requiring a similar delay between asking for and getting a marriage license as to the benefits of such a law. Students of divorce problems have long said that it was more important to tighten up the marriage laws than the divorce laws. Marriages thoughtfully entered into may go on the rocks occasionally. Marriage thoughtlessly entered into nearly always end in disaster.

The Ananias Department of the International Sourdough's Reunion in Tacoma recently proved that all was well with the exalted prevaricators. Their tall stories were so tall as to be almost incredible.

The Panama Canal, opened for operation just 20 years ago, has been such a success that it is to be honored with a commemorative three-cent postage stamp.

The rest of the world is surprised to learn that 4,000,000 qualified voters in Germany had the nerve to vote "no" in the recent plebiscite.

CERTAIN PRODUCERS WILL NOT RECEIVE CERTIFICATES NOW

Tax exemption certificates for producers who made their first crops in 1933 or 1934 since 1927 will not be distributed at the present time, according to information received by Roy M. Zellner, Bankhead administrator for Navarro county.

These producers will receive their certificates from the 10 per cent reserve held by the state board of review for this special purpose and the allotments will not be made until all of the applications from the new producers have been received and an equitable basis of distribution determined.

Some producers of this class in the county have called at the office of the administrator this week, and this announcement was made to save others a fruitless trip. No date has been set by the state board for the making of the allotments.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of extending our thanks to our many friends for their deeds of kindness and words of sympathy extended to us in the death of our son and brother, John W. Payne. And we assure them that the kidness shown in this sad hour of deepest distress will ever be remembered by us all.

UNITED CHARITIES VERY ACTIVE FOR PAST SEVERAL WEEKS

RECEIVE MANY CALLS FOR CLOTHING NEEDED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Much work among the needy and ill has been done during the summer by the United Charities and many calls for school clothing and supplies are being made at the present time, Miss Augusta Helm, secretary, revealed Tuesday morning. The secretary stressed, however, that the work being done by her department of aid is not over-lapping other relief work and agencies.

There were 57 families aided during the month of August. All wheel chairs of the United Charities are in use and many crutches are being provided.

"We are making life liveable for them," Miss Helm pointed out.

There were 14 calls for clothing Monday.

Much of the relief being done by the United Charities is diets, wood and clothes.

Health Program Increases.

Turning to the health portion the work done by this organization, Miss Helm said that the health program increased during the past month.

An instance was revealed of the work done with the little crippled girl six years of age.

The little child hobbled into the office on home-made crutches too short for her. Suitable crutches were provided and later arrangements were made whereby the little girl could receive treatment in Dallas. After two months stay in the Dallas clinic, she was brought home with her limbs in braces and the crutches had been replaced with a cane.

"Guess what I saw yesterday when I went out to the little girl's house?" Miss Helm fired at the reporter.

"She was jumping the rope with other youngsters and will go to school this year," the United Charities secretary said with a smile.

Music books which are not furnished by the state, are needed for children unable to buy them.

The organization thanks the local citizens for the many magazines sent in.

Placed in Homes.

Four girls desiring to attend schol will be placed in homes for their room and board this season if suitable places can be found, Miss Helm said. The girls are thoroughly reliable and cannot go to school unless a place can be found where they can work their way through schol.

In addition to the numerous duties performed in the regular work of the organization, frequent trips are necessary in finding out information for outside agencies in other states about relatives and their condition and ability to care for stranded persons who need aid and help. The local personnel often is able to locate relatives in this county able to care for relatives in need in other sections of the country, and vice versa.

Clothing and shoes will be needed badly when winter starts, and there are many calls at the present time at the office incident to the beginning of the school term.

Boy Injured When Hit by Automobile Tuesday Morning

Felto Pruett, aged about 10 years, son of Jimmie Pruett, received severe injuries Tuesday morning when he was struck by an automobile near the Corsicana cotton mills. The lad was rushed to the P. and S. Hospital where his injuries were said to be severe face cuts and probably a head injury.

His condition is not regarded as serious.

Students Enroll Rapidly In High School for Term

There had been 469 students enrolled in the high school for the approaching session Tuesday morning, O. P. Douglas, principal, stated.

All students must enroll this week. The principal said classes were filling rapidly and that those who enroll late may not be able to get the desired courses and may be forced to take other studies.

Principal Douglas estimated there would be 575 in the high school this fall.

Operation of the mattress making and cannery units of the Navarro county relief board was still being delayed by the delays in arrival of needed equipment and materials according to W. D. Robinson, administrator.

Ask County Clerk Information About Property Ownership

Many requests for information on various subjects are received at the county clerk's office.

An unusual request was contained in a letter received Tuesday morning. A man had written in that he did not know what properties he owns in Navarro county and asked that a list be sent him.

Persons call and often write in about marriage licenses, birth certificates, deeds, lesses, easements, mortages, deeds of trust, etc., but this is the first time a person has asked that the clerk find out what he (the writer) owns in property.

TWO BROOKS FIELD FLYERS BURNED TO DEATH RESULT CRASH

PLANE CRASHED INTO HILLSIDE IN LOUISIANA DURING RAIN STORM

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Under treatment for minor bruises and cuts, a Brooks Field enlisted soldier today told how his two flying companions were burned to death, one of them alive, when their observation plane crashed into a Jackson parish hillside during a rain storm late yesterday.

The dead:

Cadet Neal W. Caldwell, 27-year-old Jonesboro, La., youth, pilot.

Private Betts Baker, 23, of San Angelo, Texas, passenger.

Private Virgil K. Martin, 25, Nacogdoches, Texas, escaped with minor injuries.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were removed from the wreckage by a party headed by Lieut. L. M. Adams, commanding officer of a CCC camp at Danville, La. Adams said it was necessary to cut the pilot's body from the twisted mass of framework that penned him in his cockpit.

An investigation went forward today from Barksdale Field. The bodies were removed to a funeral home here.

An unidentified farmer working in a nearby field told officers he heard the drone of the disabled plane as it cruised through the rain at an altitude of 200 feet. Then came a dull thud and an explosion. He said he saw flames leap from the hillside where the plane crashed.

Martin clambered from the wreckage as flames broke out and attempted to pull Baker from the wreck. He told of his flying companion screaming for help.

As the flames leaped about him, Martin said he was forced to desert his companion.

Cadet Caldwell was killed by the impact of the crash.

The three flyers were returning to San Antonio via Barksdale Field after visiting in Ruston, where Cadet Caldwell formerly attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Escort for Bodies.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A plane piloted by Lieut. Edwin Rawlings left Brooks Field this morning carrying two men who will act as escorts for the bodies of the two aviators killed near Danville, La., yesterday.

The fliers killed were Cadet Neil Caldwell and Private Betz Baker, both of Brooks Field. Their companion, Private V. K. Martin, was injured when the biplane monoplane in which they were on a cross country flight from Brooks to Barksdale Field, La., crashed near Danville on the return flight to San Antonio.

Fire in Basement.

Fire of undetermined origin in the basement of the Mays building beneath Buck's Cafe resulted in slight damage about 5:35 Wednesday afternoon. Firemen encountered considerable difficulty in fighting the blaze because of the density of the smoke and lack of oxygen.

METHVIN

to him, Barrow and the Parker woman.

Hughes covered him with a pistol and arrested him.

"I've been double crossed" Methvin said.

Sheriff Hughes searched him and found a pistol strapped to his side. He was placed in jail on a warrant charging Methvin with complicity in the robbery of a Montgomery, La., bank several months ago.

After communicating with Texas and Oklahoma officers, Sheriff Hughes said he was convinced Methvin would be questioned in connection with the slaying of the Texas highway patrolmen near Grapevine, Tex., last Easter Sunday, and possibly for the killing of an Oklahoma officer and the kidnaping of another last spring.

The pardon issued to Methvin after Methvin's father had tipped officers to the whereabouts of Barrow and Bonnie Parker immediately prior to their deaths, stated he had given "valuable information" which led to the apprehension of the slayers of the patrolmen.

However, officers here said new evidence led them to believe that Methvin and not Barrow or his woman companion killed the patrolmen.

"There is a joker in that pardon," Sheriff Hughes said. "It says 'previous crimes with which he is charged.' Methvin has never been charged with the Grapevine slayings. He can be charged now if the Texas officers see fit."

Capt. D. E. Hamer of the Texas rangers said at Austin that he would decide immediately whether he would go to Shreveport.

Methvin joined Barrow and Bonnie Parker after he had been freed from the Eastham state prison farm in Texas by a machine gun barrage laid down at dawn last January by Barrow.

Sheriff Hughes said Methvin entered his office and said:

"I'm Henry Methvin and I've come to get some clothes of mine you are holding.

"Yes," Sheriff Hughes replied. "Come in and have a seat and I'll get them." He then left the office, obtained a pistol and came back.

Methvin, eyeing a rifle in the corner of the room, asked:

"What's that for?"

Sheriff Hughes replied that he was "going out to do some shooting" and while Methvin peered at the gun, he pulled a pistol and covered Methvin. He raised his hands slowly and said:

"I've been double crossed."

IMPROVING YOUR FEET

Helping Along the Feet

For beauty and for comfort—try Miss Forbes' suggestions for daily foot treatments and daily foot rest cures. These are simple, take no time, and furtunately, no money.

Try giving your feet a rest cure. You can do this every day, winter and summer if you wish. You need only a pair of soft, fairly large, heelless house slippers, preferably with soft soles so you can move your toes up and down in them as you sit in a chair. Wear these slippers whenever you can indoors — it not only saves wear on your street shoes, so that the experiment is an economy, it also rests your whole body so you can carry on the rest of the day with face, as well as feet, refreshed.

E. K. Forbes

You can too, if you like, adopt a picturesque house garb—say, corduroy slacks with a gay coduroy smock coat and a wide sash, or velveteen made the same way—Ina Claire wore such an outfit as the artist in her play Biography. And with this heelless slippers in any sort of gay leather. Or those lovely red leather slippers with a gay knitted instep and top, done in reds, yellows, blues, every sort of color, which the peasants along the Adriatic make, and which our shops sel lover here.

As you sit at work, point your toes downward, stretch them, try to make them curl up under the foot, then straigten them out again. Bend your ankles and feet, up, to the side, and down—moving the feet around with the legs held very still. Very good too, for the leg muscles, this!

Give yourself a pedicure, and rub a lot of oil or petroleum jelly on your toes. Take a wisp of cotton and tuck in under the edges of the big toe nails, if these tend to grow in. Keep this soaked with oil—wedge wisps of cotton around any toe which seems deformed, and keep these soaked with oil. Of course, for this you must wear strap sandals that leave the toes free, or the oil comes off. If you can keep the toes literally soaked with oil for an hour or so a day it will do wonders for them, in improving their health and beauty. And you can even straighten out crooked toes, to an extraordinary extent, by such treatments as these.

Mrs. K. B.—The gummy lotions for setting the waves in the hair are very inexpensive, and it hardly pays any one to make them at home. If you prefer to do it though, a small piece of gum tragocanth dissolved in hot water will make such a lotion. You get this gum in the drug store, ounces of it for a trifle; but the trouble is that you shold make the lotion or mucilage every time you need it, unless you add a preservative to it, as it will not keep sweet for very long. If you do not mind the extra trouble of making the mixture after each shampoo, you will know what you are putting on yor hair, and tha ii is quite harmless.

Mrs. M.—To get rid of two heavy rolls of fat over the lower part of the abdomen, wold require a great deal of special exercise. You will have to do a great deal of it before there will be any perceptible change, and you moy help matters along by using the roller over the abdomen, and massage some also. By persistence in all these you will get results, and after there is a change it will mean the improvement is going to be rapid from that time on. It takes time to break up the fatty tissues, after that they are absorbed and thrown off easily.

N. G.—Henna is a vegetable dye, or better still, it may be termed a coloring or a stain, and quite harmless to the hair or the health in general. If it is any other color than the red shade its name implies, it has something added, and it is merely that which you will have to consider.

REV. UMPHREY LEE MAIN SPEAKER FOR METHODISTS TODAY

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Rev. Umphrey Lee, pastor of the Highland Park Methodist Church, South, Dallas, today said before the Texas Methodist Centennial here religious teachers must change their ways and outlook if they would deal with the new generation. They must remember that we are living in a period when the post frontier civilization is telescoping into the urban civilization, he said.

Rev. Lee spoke at the morning's session, of which King Vivian, president of Southwestern University at Georgetown, was chairman.

The devotional service was conducted by Rev. John R. Score of Houston.

Rev. Lee in his talk on "Methods and the New Generation" said out that most of the leaders have had a frontier background, while those they would seek to instruct have a distinctly different mental setup.

"If these teachers have any say with the new generation it won't be their distinctive doctrines, but rather assumptions never before employed," he declared. "They must treat more on personal discipline and the church as a modern institution."

TWO MODEL YOUTHS SOUGHT AFTER BODY OF DENTIST FOUND

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Two "model youths" were sought today for the beating to death with a hammer of Dr. John Schacht, 55 year old dentist.

The youths are Robert Palmquist, 16, and Palmer Swenson, 19, described as "good boys" and reported to have been the last persons seen with Dr. Schacht after he started out Tuesday night to collect on patients' bills.

A coroner's jury found that the dentist met death "by means of wounds inflicted upon his skull by Robert Palmquist and Palmer Swenson, either jointly or separately."

It was testified at the inquest that Palmquist owed the dentist money and took him to Swenson's home ostensibly to collect $30 from his father-in-law. The three later were seen in Dr. Schacht's automobile, in which it is believed the slayers fled.

The discovery of Dr. Schacht's keys Wednesday beside a pool of blood on a road four miles from here led to the belief he had been kidnaped, but soon afterward two boys on a fishing trip found the body by the Otter Tail river.

NEVER BEFORE A REMEDY LIKE IT, SAY OF GLY-CAS

Rev. C. I. McWhirter Declares Gly-Cas' Action Remarkable; Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Sleeplessness Completely Conquered For Greenville Minister.

This amazing new medical discovery, now being explained at the Wilson Drug Store, 102 S. Beaton, by the Gly-Cas man, is so scientifically compounded that through its specific action on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, its efficacy is such that it has given relief in certain cases which borders on the miraculous. For instance, Rev. C. I. McWhirter, well known Retired Methodist Minister of this section, age 84, and who now lives at 3542 West Dalton St., Greenville, Texas, had been in failing health for years until he gave Gly-Cas a chance to reach his awful case. Read what he says:

"It is a pleasure to tell people of a medicine like Gly-Cas," said Rev. McWhirter, "I had practically lost my appetite and what little I ate disagreed with me. My stomach soured and bloated, had a heavy rock-like feeling in the pit of my stomach every time after eating. I was so nervous the least noise disturbed me, it was impossible to get a good night's sleep. Then too I would become so dizzy at times I would have to catch myself to keep from falling. I was always badly constipated and regardless of what I tried I could find nothing to help me—until I finally gave Gly-Cas an opportunity to help—and it was wonderful."

"It is almost magical the way Gly-Cas has regulated my entire system," he continued, "Why I can eat anything I want now and am not bothered at all with sour stomach or bloating. My appetite is good, dizzy spells are a thing of the past and even my nerves have been quieted until I can sleep good again. It is wonderful to be feeling so good again and I want all sufferers to know that Gly-Cas is the best medicine by far, that I have ever taken and one that all suffering humanity should know."

Just a case where Gly-Cas accomplished the seemingly impossible even when all else failed.

The Gly-Cas Man is kept busy every day at the Wilson Drug Store, 102 S. Beaton St., where he is meeting crowds of local people and introducing and explaining the action of this new valuable remedy. (Adv.)

Star of Midnight Show at Palace

A brand-new, popular, starring combination comes to the screen in Paramount's "She Loves Me Not," the film version of the smash Broadway success. The picture comes to the midnight show at the Palace theatre Saturday night with Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins in the principal roles. The picture runs through Tuesday.

Acting the role of a love-sick, chivalous student, Crosby sings and wooes his way to the great romance with the daughter of the university dean, after Miriam Hopkins, as the madcap, flamboyant little night-club dancer, enters his life, and leaves him a sadder but wiser college lad.

Beginning with an utterly fantastic and ludicrous situation, the film in its rapid progress pokes derisive fun at colleges, the motion picture industry, the newspapers, communists, gangsters and most of the familiar American institutions. Yet there is not a trace of rancor or bitterness in its spreakling comedy.

TAX EXEMPTION CERTIFICATES ARE PLACED WITH BANKS

All permanent exemption certificates for producers who have not secured interim certificates have been distributed to the banks of the county, Roy M. Zellner, Bankhead administrator, reported Thursday.

Producers wha made their first crop since 1927 in 1933, or those making their first chop this year, have not yet been allotted certificates, he reported.

Meantime, groups of committeemen are engaged in redeeming the interim certificates issued at the various gins in the county, and as soon as all ceritificates are redeemed in oue community, the remainder of the permanent papers are made available to the producers through the banks.

GOVERNMENT ORDERS TAG AFFIXED EACH BALE COTTON SOLD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Wright Matthews, acting commissioner of internal revenue, today issued a ruling amending the regulations governing the cotton ginning tax so as to require the affixing of a government bale tag to each bale of cotton sold.

Warehouse receipts for bales of lint cotton ginned prior to June 1 and stored in the warehouse Aug. 1 may be purchased and sold without the affixing of such tags provided the warehouse has in its possession the proper tags for the cotton represented.

Before a bale of cotton may be removed from a warehouse a tag must be attached.

YOUTH ATTACKING LITTLE SISTERS IS CHARGED MURDER

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Sixteen-year-old Cerivino Paica, who authorities said criminally attacked his two young sisters and locked them in an ice box to die of suffocation, faces murder charges today.

The youth confessed, District Attorney Neil McAllister said, shortly after the funerals of the girls, Mary, 7, and Mary Ann, 6, yesterday. He was quoted by McAllister as saying he locked his sisters in the ice box, knowing they would die, because they did not wash dishes to suit him.

McAllister said two murder and incest complaints, sworn to by Deputy Sheriff Charles Ogle, will be filed with a request the youth be turned over to the juvenile court for punishment.

The little girls, two of the eleven children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paiva, were found dead in the ice box at the parents' ranch at Wilton, near here, Saturday night.

New York Cotton Firm.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened firm, 8 to 10 higher on active foreign and commission house buying, a more favorable view of the strike situation, and prospects of a lower bureau report. Oct. 13.25; Dec. 13.38; Jan. 13.42; March 13.46; May 13.55; July 13.61.

The demand was general at the start through Wall street and houses with Liverpool, continental and Far Eastern connections. Offerings were light. December sold up to 13.39 and May to 13.55 on the initial buying, but these pices attracted realizing, and there was also some scattered Southern selling. Offerings were absorbed on reactions of 6 to 7 points from the opening prices and the market held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour with active months showing net gains of 5 to 9 points.

The early buying was attributed to renewed talk of reduced crop figures, continued firmness of near months and hope that the new mediation board would find a basis for settlement of the labor disputes in the textile trade.

The market was quiet but steady later in the morning. Offerings continued light and there was a moderate scattering demand which seemed to be encouraged by the firmer tone of the wheat and stock market. At midday December was ruling around 13.37 and May 13.54, or net advances of 8 to 9 points on the more active months.

Another private crop report placed the condition at 51.2 and the indicated yield at 9,056,000 bales compared with an indication by the same authority of 9,416,000 last month. New York Cotton Exchange members on the average, according to a canvass made this morning are looking for a crop of 9,046,000 bales.

Futures closed steady, 3-6 higher. Spot steady; middling 13.35.

New Orleans Cotton Active.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The cotton market was somewhat more active during the morning. Prices continued to improve, mainly due to the strength of the spot situation. As a result of transferring, the March position developed more strength than the other months, trading up to 13.49 or 14 points above the previous close.

The near months showed smaller gains of 10 points over yesterday's close. With October at 13.29c and December at 13.40c. Near mid-session, December eased off two points from the top and March three points, leaving the price level 7 to 11 points net up compared with yesterday's close.

Wheat Prices Advance.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6—(AP)—Sharp falling off in the movement of domestic wheat to terminal markets did much today to hoist wheat values anew.

Arrivals of wheat in the American northwest were especially scant, totaling but 190 cars today at Minneapolis and Duluth, against 260 a week ago and 665 at this time last year. Stress was laid on an advance of more than 2 cents in Durum wheat futures at Duluth to a new high price record for the season.

Wheat closed firm 1-4-7-8 over yesterday's finish; Dec. now 106 3-4-7-8, corn 1-4-1 1-8 down, Dec. now 88 1-8-3-8, oats 1-4-3-4 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Aluminum Company Accepts Collective Bargaining Plan

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Aluminum Company of America "recognizes and accepts the principles of collective bargaining" as provided in the National Industrial Recovery Act in a compromise agreement reached today with union leaders, to end a month-old strike by 8,700 men and women employes.

It refuses the other chief demands of the National Council of Aluminum Workers—install the check-off system of deducting union due from the employes' pay checks and to effect a universal wage scale in the plant.

Only a vote on the peace plan by the workers themselves remained to complete the truce and this was expected to be completed during the day.

STRIK[illegible]

hould shut down or operate unmolested.

An effort to stop operations at the Victor Monaghan mill in Greenville, S. C., proved ineffectual when an attempt to dynamite the power plant failed.

Seven persons were known to be dead in South Carolina. At least six were killed at Honea Path in a battle between workers and a "flying squadron" seeking to prevent the Chinquola mills from opening.

A striker was shot six times and killed at Greenville, S. C., in friction between strikers and police officers guarding the Dunean milsl.

A man said to be a striker died today at Augusta, Ga., of wounds received yesterday when a trapper policeman shot his way out of a crowd of pickets.

A deputy sheriff and a striker were kiled yesterday in a gun fight between ofifcers and strikers at the Trion Cotton mill at Trion, Ga.

Efforts of strike leaders to shut down mills now operating met resistance from employes intent on working.

Delegation Turned Back.

At Dighton, Mas., a delegation of more than 200 workers from Fall River, Mass., seeking to picket the plant of the Mt. Hope finishing company, were turned back by armed guards stationsd behind piles of sand on either side of roads entering the town.

The mills of the Riverside and Dan River Cotton company, at Danville, Va., center of Virginia's textile industry as yet unaffected by the strike, opened without incident after an all night vigil by more than a hundred armed police and civilian deputies.

Workers in the Biddeford, Me., plant of the Pepperell mills numbering 2,000 went to work today apparently unperturbed by reports that a "flying squadron" was planning a demonstration at the plant.

Three Plants Close.

In Pawtucekt, R. I., officials of three factories employing about 2000 men announced suspension of operations. In each instance the management announced the shutdown for the protection of the workers from pickets.

Only 100 workers remained on the job at Lowell, Mass., where 3000 were normally employed. Mills not previously closed were shut down today.

A "flying squadron" of pickets battled police at Warren, R. I., today to fre a strike leader from police custody. State troopers were called to disperse a crowd, said to number 3,000 with clubs and tear gas.

The trouble in the Carolinas today added to the list of injured. Others were injured yesterday in the Carolinas and Georgia.

Arrests were made yesterday in Georgia, Massachusetths, North Carolina, and Oregon.

Seven Dead, Thirty Wounded in Carolinas

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Seven men died and 30 were wounded in mill clashes today as flying squadrons continued their forays through the Carolinas despite national guard attempts to restore order in the general textile strike.

Pistols and shotguns took six lives and injured 30 employes of the Chiquola mill at Honea Path, S. C., in a fight there. Deputy sheriff at the Dunean mill at Greenville fired six bullets into John Black.

The Honea Path victims were members of a squadron from Belton, S. C., which arrived at the mill just before opening time today and demanded that its gates remain closed. The mill management delayed opening pending a final decision, but in the meantime armed workers entered into dispute with the Belton crowd, which number about 200.

In a moment guns were blazing, and the ground was littered with dead and wounded. The identities of the wounded, and the faction to which they belonged, could not be learned immediately.

The Honea Path dead are:

Bill Knight, Lee Crawford, 25; Yancek Yarborough, 50; Ralph Pollard, 26, and Ira Davis, 25.

Bob Putnam, the officer who killed Black at Greenville, was arrested. He claimed to have fired in self defense when the man whom Putnam claimed was not a striker, attacked him with a knife. Putnam surrendered and was jailed pending an investigation.

No arrests had been made at Honea Path.

Governor Ibra C. Blackwood of South Carolina was urged from numerous sides to declare martial law, but said he would do so as a last resort only.

Honea Path authorities had asked for troops prior to today's outbreak, but had been advised all troops were already mobilized at other points.

Striker Is Killed.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—John Black, a striker, was shot six times and killed in the Dunean mill here today in what appeared to be an isolated incident of friction between strikers and officers on guard at the mill

First reports from the sector said the shooting was done by Bob Garrison, special officer employed by the mill.

Six Slain in Fight At Honea Path Mill

HONEA PATH, S. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Six picketing strikers were slain and upwards of 30 wounded as death guns blazed in a textile strike clash here today.

The shooting climaxed more than an hour's tension at Honea Path's only textile mill, the Chiquola, after strikers from nearby Belton had come to picket the mill.

As the flying squadron arrived, the plant delayed opening and workers and strikers congregated on the mill grounds. Suddenly, just before 8 a. m., guns began to roar. One striker after another dropped to the ground, dead or wounded.

For several minutes the turmoil continued. No one knew who fired the first shot. Then the strikers retreated—leaving their dead, assisting away some of the injured.

Ambulances raced to the scene, as did special deputies and regular officers. When they arrived, the situation was quiet.

L. O. Hammett, president of the mill, said he would not open the mill today.

Ten Seriously Wounded.

At least 10 were seriously wounded. Estimates of the total number hurt varied and the figure could not be accurately determined as some with minor wounds left the scene without medical attention.

Ten minutes after the flareup, the sector was practically deserted. Officers patroled the area and Coroner Roy McCoy began an immediate investigation of the slayings.

Many of the wounded were taken to Anderson, S. C., hospitals while others, clipped by bullets, were seen to retreat apparently to tend their own wounds.

The Cox Funeral Home here gave the names of those slain, all from Belton, as:

Lee Crawford, 26; R. Thomas Yarbrough, 54; E. M. (Bill) Knight, 45; Ira Davis, 26; Claude Cannon, 27, and Maxie Peterson, 25.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Rioting pickets at the strike-bound Gueder, Poeschke and Frey plant today overturned a police patrol wagon, injuring two policemen and a picket. Three pickets were arested before order was restored.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The general executive board of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union today voted a strike in the cotton garment industry, which is expected to affect 50,000 workers immediately, and from 125,000 to 175,000 workers eventually.

Ambulance Race Futile.

HOUSTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Three and a half hours after a 200 mile ambulance race from his Corsicana home, Rogers McElwrath, 25, died in a Houston hospital last night of encephalities, commonly known as sleeping sickness.

Stricken last Friday, McElwrath was started to Houston late Wednesday when his condition became critical. As the ambulance sped through the night, accompanied by a motorcycle escort, efforts were made to prolong life by artificial respiration.

The youth was placed in a respirator on arrival at the hospital. His body was sent to Corsicana for burial.

MYERS

timony that Myers went to see an Oklahoma City pnysician about getting an illegal operation performed and was told that it would cost $75, which the boy did not have.

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The State closed its case against Neal Myers, University of Oklahoma junior at noon today on the testimony of a medical expert that Marian Mills, co-ed beauty queen, died of shock following an attempted illegal operation.

Immediately defense attorneys went into conference to discuss a possible change of strategy that may mean young Myers, on trial on a murder charge, will not testify until tomorrow.

They had planned to use him as the first witness.

"It is my opinion that there was an attempted abortion, that this girl died very suddenly and that she died of shock," testified Dr. Hugh Jeter, University of Kiahoma pathologist and chief of the State's corps of medical witnesses.

Dr. Jeter added that the exhaustive autopsy showed conclusively that no other factor could have caused the death of the 19-year-old beauty queen here last July 10.

Virtually the entire morning was consumed by medical testimony and the introduction of greusome exhibits.

The defense made one sally when it drew from George McKinney, Norman policeman, that one full bottle and several empty bottles of a drug commonly used to avert maternity were found in the Hazel Brown duplex apartment, where Miss Mills died.

Earlier W. P. Morrison, one of the defense attorneys, declared out of court that the State had "hidden" this fact.

Dr. Jeter's testimony was much the same as that of Dr. D. G. Willard, Norman physician.

The exhibits, of a revolting nature, caused an hour's battle of counsel before they were admitted.

"This is highly prejudicial," Attorney Morrison told Judge Tom Pace, "The State might as well bring the dead body of this girl in here."

They were shown to the jury, however, during Dr. Jeter's testimony.

Dr. Jeter testified that the autopsy showed some sort of "interference," although he did not speculate on the exact nature of this.

On cross-examination he said that what occurred in Miss Mills' case might happen in an "accidental obortion."

The tall, 20-year-old Myers displayed an increasing nervousness during today's session.

Ready to Take Stand.

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Preparing to use Neal Myers as his own first defense witness, the youth's attorneys said today they will demand to know why the State has been "hiding" the alleged discovery of quantities of a drug in the house here Marian Mills, 19-year-old coed beauty at the University of Oklahoma, died last July 10.

Myers, University junior, is on trial on a charge of murder in connection with the death.

W. P. Morrison, one of his attorneys said he learned only yesterday that "several full bottles and several empty bottles of this drug," which the attorney said was commonly used to prevent maternity, had been found in the house.

"We are going to find out why the county attorney has chosen to keep this hidden," said Morrison.

Migs Mills died in the home of Hazel Brown, fraternity house cook, who testified yesterday. The State chrages that a criminal operation was responsible.

Myers was expected to testify this afternoon, as soon as the State rests. In addition, defense attorneys were guarding the identity of a so-called "surprise" witness.

The co-ed died of shock resulting from an illegal operation, Dr. D. G. Willard, the first state's witness today, testified.

She died in great pain within a few minutes of the internal disturbance that caused the shock he said. The alleged operation, he added, was not necessary to save the girl's life.

Woman Says Myers Loved Dead Co-Ed

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Prosecution testimony in the murder trial of Neal Myers, pharmacy student charged in the death of Marian Mills, university beauty queen, neared a conclusion today following the dramatic recital of Mrs. Hazel Brown, campus cook, in whose home the 19-year-old enceinte co-ed died July 10.

Dignified doctors took up where the sobbing middle-aged cook left off, giving technical testimony that the girl died as the result of an attempted criminal operation.

Dr. Ben Cooley of Norman told the jury an instrument had been used upon the girl, daughter of a University of Oklahoma professor, in an attempt to abort.

When asked if manipulation and medicine could have concurred in causing death, Dr. Cooley replied "yes."

Dr. Guy Y. Williams, head of the university chemistry department, testified that he found a small quantity of a common medicine in the girl's viscera, but not enough to be harmful.

Mrs. Brown, pleasant-faced, red-haired cook for the Delta Upsilon Fraternity of which Myers was a member and kitchen employe, broke into sobs during cross-examination.

"Neal Myers loved that girl," she cried. "He wanted to marry her. He never did want Marian to take that medicine or do anything else."

"Marian said she couldn't marry him, that her parents wouldn't accept him."

The girl, she said, insisted upon attempting to thwart maternity with a quack medicine.

"I couldn't put her out," she explained the girl's presence in her home.

"Neal is a good boy; I hope he goes free," she said after leaving the witness stand.

The prosecution which is asking life imprisonment for the tall, dark son of Dr. P. B. Myers of El Reno, will conclude its case today with testimony of Dr. Hugh Jeter, Oklahoma City pathologist, and Dr. D. G. Willard of Norman, both of whom took part in the post mortem examination.

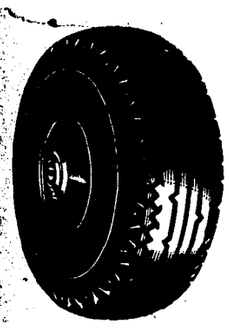

Myers will be the chief defense witness, bulwarked by several doctors who will be called upon for expert testimony.
